Drunken Driver Given
Prison Sentence; Fined

DOYLESTOWN, May 31 — A Philadelphia resident Charles E. Doll, 55, for whom a bench warrant had to be issued, pleaded guilty to drunken driving before President Judge Keller, who sentenced him to pay the costs of prosecution, amounting to more than $140, and serve 10 days in jail.

The defendant, who was arrested Dec. 4, 1949, at Hulmeville and Newportville roads, Bensalem township, by State Policeman William A. Arner, of the Langhorne sub-station, was in an accident with a car driven by Alfred Seltner.

When he appeared in court on crutches and was unable to take the witness stand, but testified from another chair because his kneecap was injured permanently, the court modified his sentence.

A sister testified that her brother-defendant must report at a hospital clinic for treatment to his leg and that he had no money to pay a fine. The defendant was sentenced to prison until he must appear for his next visit to the clinic.

POLICE INVESTIGATING A BURGLARY AT EDGELY

Edgely Brass & Foundry
Window and Safe Are Forced Open

PAPERS SCATTERED

EDGELY, May 31 — Police officials are investigating a burglary which occurred between 4:30 and 7:30 Sunday morning at the plant of Edgely Brass and Foundry Co. here.

No cash was secured, officials at the plant stating that no cash is kept at the plant, but the thief or thieves made off with a brief case, some canned goods, wrecked a cabinet, and scattered business papers about the office.

Police state they have secured a number of fingerprints, and are checking on same, adding they have suspects on their list. Trooper Friedrich of Pennsylvania State Police, Langhorne barracks, and Chief of Police of Bristol township Joseph Seader are investigating.

Discovery of the burglary was made at 7:30 by Mrs. Louise Leckie when she arrived to clean the offices. Unable to unlock the front door with her key, a second lock also having been secured, she went to the rear to have a workman leave her in.

It was discovered that a window on the PRR siding side of the building had been forced open, and entrance gained in that manner. A safe which contained approximately $3,000 to $4,000 in checks, was forced open. A four-drawer filing cabinet was broken open and wrecked, evidently with a pick, police say. A ball-peen hammer and a claw hammer were also secured by the intruders from the shop and used in the depredations.

The thief or thieves then took some canned goods from the office closet, ate a can of beans on the premises, and made off with a can each of pineapple, cherries, and tomato soup. Also taken was a new brief case (18x11 inches) of light tan leather, valued at $28.

Convict Tuccillo In Connection With Hold-Up

DOYLESTOWN, May 31 — Before President Judge Hiram H. Keller a jury at the end of the week convicted (after two hours deliberation) Louis F. Tuccillo, 30, of Trenton, N. J., of being one of five men who held-up a diner at Riegelsville, May 2, 1946. The proprietor and another man were forced into a washroom and bound.

Judge Keller, who deferred sentence because motion was made for a new trial, set the bail at $10,000, and the defendant, who was out on bail after finishing a four-to-eight year sentence in the New Jersey State Penitentiary, was remanded to the county prison, here.

The defendant, who served in the army, denied that he was a member of the five man gang which staged the hold-up in the early morning, but John E. Castimore, 41, who was the "trigger" man and is undergoing a third-time imprisonment in New Jersey, testified Tuccillo was with them that evening.

Tuccillo, whose defense was that he wasn't there, called no witnesses to substantiate his alibi.

Convicted of eight counts on two bills, including robbery while armed with an offensive weapon, robbery, robbery and carrying firearms without a license, the defendant had two counts of "wantonly pointing a firearm" withdrawn.

Castimore testified that he knew Tuccillo had a gun, but whether he left it in the car or took it in with him he wasn't certain.

A plaque was unveiled in memory of a Bristol boy shortly before noon yesterday. The plaque on front of the fire station of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department was placed in memory of John B. Boyle by the Bristol Blood Donors and the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department of which the deceased was a member.

Staff Sergeant Boyle, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle, former residents here, was killed in action over Austria, February 1st, 1945. He had previously been reported missing. Word of his death was received by his parents here in May of 1945. He was an enlisted man, entering the service April 22nd, 1943, and going overseas in August of that year.

Boyle was a member of a 10-man crew of a B-17 bomber, being with the 15th Army Air Force.

Veterans groups, members of Bracken Post and Terchon Post Cadets were assembled in front of the fire station. There were introductory remarks by Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., who presented Burgess I. J. Hetherington.

Burgess Hetherington said: "It is a great honor to be here and to take part in these ceremonies. I will not say it is a pleasure, but it is an honor to pay tribute to one who gave his all that we might live." Then, quoting Abraham Lincoln, Burgess Hetherington said: "Let us have faith that right makes the might."

"We soon forget the dead," said the speaker, "but long remember what they did here."

Acheson, reporting to an unusual joint session of the Senate and the House, said the London Conference of Foreign Ministers unanimously agreed that any immediate war threat "is not the problem." He said . . .

"The problem is to meet a threat which, in view of the known program of the Kremlin, will exist unless we act now to prepare our defenses against aggression."

A DISEASED CHARACTER

Harry Gold, the Russian-born Philadelphia scientist who has been accused of receiving atomic secrets from Dr. Klaus Fuchs and handing them over to Russia is reported to have told FBI agents: "I thought that I would be helping a nation, whose final aims I approved, along the road to industrial strength. Particularly was I taken with the idea that whatever I did would go to make living conditions far more advanced along the road, as we know them here in the United States."

Whether Gold was a communist, traitor, or both, he believed in the political religion called communism. Disregarding the evidence to the contrary that began to show up when the reds took over in Russia in 1917, and began to mount higher and higher after President Roosevelt began to have truck with Moscow in 1933, he convinced himself, apparently, that Marxism was preferable to liberty and freedom.

In his fatuous devotion to this bogus faith he failed in his duty as a naturalized citizen of the United States and broke his oath as an employee of the nation's government. But it is significant that he had no difficulty in obtaining a remunerative position with the government.

Dr. Fuchs, the naturalized British physicist who gave Soviet agents vital information acquired as a trusted public servant, also has "complete confidence in Russian policy." Both of these twisted characters had a duty, they thought, to a higher cause. Communism is a disease. Many Americans are convinced that eradication, instead of attempted cures, is the only effective way of combating it.

HOG WILD

In 1940 fewer than 3,800,000 homes were heated by natural gas. By last year the total had soared to 7,200,000, and 700,000 homes are being added to the list each year. Homes represent only 30 percent of natural gas consumption. Commercial shops and industry also take large amounts, industry having doubled its consumption in 10 years.

Ordinarily the Southwest, source of most of this fuel, would be happy with such healthy markets. They represent the creation of wealth on an increasing scale. Many natural gas experts are concerned about the future, however. They fear demand soon will absorb so much of the available supplies of natural gas that there will no longer be a dependable supply for all consumers.

Then there will be ill-heated homes, offices and shops, with industry being forced to fall back on other fuels. Hundreds of millions of dollars worth of equipment will have to be replaced when that point is reached.

Americans have a way of going hog-wild in one direction and then suffering consequences not to their liking. The natural gas shortage can have painful results.

Speaker Pleads to Keep Nation Strong for Peace

plaque to bear the invocation by Rabbi Aaron Moskovitz of Ahavath Achim Synagogue.
Former Legion Post Commander Jacob C. Schmidt, Jr., introduced the heads of the various groups and presented Thomas Roberts and Jacob Helling, veterans of the Spanish-American War.

Schmidt then introduced Commander John E. Bauer of the U. S. Navy submarine service, who gave the principal address. The Nebraska-born Commander, who completed eight undersea war missions, said that the best way to pay homage to the dead of past wars was to keep our nation strong and prepared in a world where peace is not yet a reality.

"Our fundamental problem today is the necessity for finding a way to preserve and enjoy the integrity of our own free institutions in the same world with a totalitarian dictatorship admittedly grasping for world dominations," he said.

Commander Bauer said that although this country and other democracies have decreased their armed forces since the war, Russia has not. "On the contrary," he stated, "during the past four years Russia has steadily strengthened its army, air force and undersea fleet."

Now serving on the "Clamagore," Commander Bauer pointed out that although this nation's armed forces have been reduced they are still prepared to give maximum security. "I can say that there is virtually universal agreement among veteran personnel that our defense program for next year is the best balanced program for efficiency and military readiness in many years," Commander Bauer said.

Emphasizing the readiness of the Navy, the former Annapolis instructor said that "the precision tool of diplomacy" was ready to back up our foreign policy and help prevent future wars.

"The only war anybody really wins is the war that never starts," Commander Bauer said, "and the great striking power of a balanced fleet is a mighty hindrance to a foe contemplating force of arms."

At 11 o'clock an airplane flew overhead and dropped poppies on the cemetery. Wilson Vaughn and Harry Lahr of the Schumacher Post were the pilots.

After a blessing by Terchon Post chaplain, Andrew G. Solla, ritualistic services were held under the direction of Post Commander Henry Kornstedt. Taking part in the program were Mrs. John Yorty, president of the American War Mothers; Mrs. Nettie Ellis, president of the Gold Star Mothers; John O'Brien, commander of the Schumacher Post; Clarence Schweizer, junior vice commander of the Terchon Post; Mrs. May Bears, president of the Schumacher Women's Auxiliary; Mrs. Mildred Wilson, president of the Terchon Women's Auxiliary; and Mrs. I. J. Hetherington, president of the Bracken Post Women's Auxiliary.

After a salute by a firing squad made up of members from the three veterans' posts and the sounding of taps, the Bracken and Terchon Post marchers returned to Bristol, while members of the Schumacher Post joined Memorial Day ceremonies in Croydon.

Fearon To Play Several of Leads At Trevoze Theatre

TREVOZE, May 31 — The arts have been a perennial concern of Raymond Fearon, a seasoned stage artist who will be playing several leads in the ten-week season that will soon open at the Trevoze Summer Theatre. This new Bucks County theatre is bringing a summertime review of ten Broadway hit plays.

Fearon was in art school when he stole some playtime to appear in productions at the Hedgerow Theatre. He next played and served as stage manager for several seasons in professional stock in Philadelphia, New Jersey and New England. Several more of his "art years" were devoted to music and composition, creating the music and lyrics for a number of songs.

After playing numerous parts with the Philadelphia Theatre League, Ray Fearon spent two seasons acting and directing at the Barn Theatre in Jeffersonville. He has played the whole range, from "Uncle Tom's Cabin" to modern Shaw.

Right now, with the Trevoze Summer Theatre busily preparing for a big season, Fearon will show his range by appearing as the priest in "Jenny Kissed Me" and the villain in "Wide-Awake-Nell." The theatre will open its season with Segal's "Heaven Can Wait," the week of June 26th.

Today's Quiet Moment

By the Rev. Samuel Gaskell
Pastor
Tullytown-Emille
Methodist Churches

O God, give unto Thy people the faith to believe that Thou, through Thy Holy Spirit art sufficient for these times, as well as in the past. Yesterday, to-day, and for ever Thou art the same. Omnipotent, Eternal. Thine arm is not shortened. Thou hast not shut Thyself up behind the clouds. "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee." God is here, and that to bless us With the Holy Spirit's power. See the cloud already bending. Waits to drop a gracious shower.

Let it come, O Lord, we pray Thee.
Let the shower of blessing fall: We are waiting, we are waiting. O revive the hearts of all.
Amen.

JUDGED "FASHION CAR" OF 1950
Yes, Ford has again been judged "Fashion Car of the Year" by the New York Fashion Academy... two years in a row.

Ten minutes behind the wheel of a '50 Ford—and you'll realize that quality has invaded the low-price field. Only Ford in its field offers a "hushed" V-8—the type of engine used in America's costliest cars—yet Ford's V-8 is yours for hundreds less than most "sixes" (and Ford's "Six" for even less).

For comfort you'll like Ford's lower, level "Mid Ship" Ride and Sofa-Wide seats. For safety, its 13-way stronger "Lifeguard" Body and 35% easier-acting King Size Brakes.

It's so easy on gas and upkeep costs are so low that you'll find owning a '50 Ford is real economy.

ST. ANN'S WILL TRY TO HOLD GRIP ON LEAD OF LEAGUE

St. Ann's A. A. will attempt to maintain its grip on first place in the Trenton Industrial League this evening as it meets the Atwood team on Memorial Park field, starting at 6 o'clock.

The "Saints" have a full game margin on top position but have not played as many games as the other teams in the loop. A St. Ann's triumph over the Atwoods will make things easier for Manager "Spike" Scordila.

Earlier in the season, St. Ann's topped Atwoods, 8-5, on a fine pitching performance by Dave Muth aided by excellent relief hurling by Paul Leighton. Muth will most likely draw the pitching assignment this evening with Joe Elmer behind the plate.

Score Menaces to Freedom And to Our Liberties

Laedlein, vicar of Grace Episcopal Church, Hulmeville.

Starting out at nine a. m., at the Soby Post home, Langhorne, where the colors were raised, the groups continued to the Langhorne Methodist Churchyard where respects were paid. The main ceremony was at the Langhorne community house grounds. The Soby Post Jr. Drum & Bugle Corps, which took part in all three programs of the day, was led in selections by Nancy Kauffman, Commander of Soby Post. Lynn Poyner presented American Legion school awards to two eighth grade scholars, Janet Cameron and Lawrence Evans, Langhorne 8th grade pupils. Prayer was offered by the post chaplain, the Rev. Roger Hillis, of Parkland.

In his address, at Langhorne, the Rev. Fr. Monaghan said: "Today is not a happy day. We have too many memories. We remember, with tears in our eyes, too many who gave all for their country." He spoke of the "high privilege we have to honor our defenders—those who donned uniforms and guaranteed freedom for us. It is our fond hope and earnest prayer that these boys have not died in vain." The priest spoke of the fears for the future due to threat of Communism, possibility of another war, and "the end of our present civilization." He added however, "But the future is not entirely dark. We have recognized our enemy... The more we learn about it the better we will be able to overthrow it... Communism is wrong because it is based on the false supposition there is no God, and that therefore there can be no right nor wrong." He reminded how, under Communism, the state is supreme. At this juncture he referred to the wisdom of the founders of the United States of America. "They founded our country on the basis that man comes before the state. We have 'inalienable rights' guaranteed by our Constitution. Our Constitution was framed by men who had a strong belief in God." The speaker emphasized that "A man who obeys God and keeps His laws cannot help but be a better citizen." Let us remember that anyone who would dare do anything to foster Communism is our enemy. Anyone who loves Communism hates America.

The program at Pennel Memorial Recreation Center included the unveiling of a plaque inscribed: "Pennel Memorial Park—Gratefully dedicated to the remembrance of men and women who served their country during World War II. Presented by American War Mothers, and Veterans of Foreign Wars, Middletown Post." The plaque was unveiled by Donald Hewings and Stanley Seifert, sons of heroes who lost their lives in the last war. The program was announced by Burgess Joseph Downing, who called upon the Rev. William S. Heist, pastor of Pennel Lutheran Church, for the invocation. Lawrence Monroe, Esq., in his speech referred to the Douglas MacArthur Chapter of American War Mothers, in this manner: "What group of people is better fitted to dedicate a plaque to the memory of our boys, for they dedicated their own boys to America!" He spoke of "The men and women who are no longer with us because they preferred that the United States and its way of life should be preserved for their families and fellowmen." He continued: "Those who died in the service have bequeathed to us all the freedom we have known. But this legacy has not come to us without conditions and without obligations. We have the inheritance and we must not deny our duty. What is our duty? To preserve those things they served and died for! And how are we to preserve that liberty? By eternal vigilance! What are we to be vigilant against? I don't need to tell you." Mr. Monroe spoke of the "cold war" which he reminded can become a "hot war." He spoke of the propaganda emanating from Russia, and of the "pernicious things taking place. Some tell us to cut our defenses to the bone, that Russia is a peaceful nation." He mentioned Russia's expansion in arms and territory. Propaganda to cut the Marshall plan was briefly listed. "But we can't forget the good done by clothing the naked, and feeding the starving people. We have saved them from that propaganda and made them our friends. We can't leave them weak, immobilized and defenseless... Have we forgotten their persecutions? In order not to deny our inheritance let us ever be vigilant... against the propaganda spread by Russia."

A brief talk by Mrs. Emily Hallam, president, preceded Chaplain Mrs. Anna Carver's leadership of members of the War Mothers Chapter in the collect. Mrs. Hallam, also Charles O'Brien (representing Packenah Tribe, I. O. R. M.), Commander

Fred Lippincott (for V.F.W.), and Commander Lynn Poyner (for Soby Post), placed wreaths at the plaque. The latter presented American Legion medals to two Pennel pupils, Mary Henry and Richard Newman. Benediction was by the Rev. Fr. Monaghan.

Music played a large part in the ceremony at Hulmeville Memorial Park, with former Burgess Samuel J. Illick in charge of the program. In addition to selections by the Harmony Trumpeters, of Philadelphia; there were vocal solo by Luigi Boccelli, tenor, as follows: "There Is No Death," "Dear Old Pal of Mine," "Boy of Mine"; also selections by Richard Boccelli, baritone, "It's a Grand Old Flag," "Yankee Doodle Dandy," "It's a Big, Wide, Wonderful World"; with four duets by the two including medley of George M. Cohan numbers, Lincoln's Gettysburg address was given by Marian Bilger, she and Thomas Buckley being recipients of the American Legion medal awards for honor, scholarship, and other attributes. These were presented by Peter Kutger, of Soby Post.

The speaker of the afternoon, the Rev. Arthur Laedlein, of Grace P. E. Church, recalled how each year for the past 82, the country has paused "to honor the memory of those who gave their lives for their country and to honor those who defended their country." He said: "The fundamental question is 'Have the agonies and sacrifices of the past years taught us how to live?' reminding 'how we do the same errors over and over again.' He reminded that "We should not forget the urgencies of the times in which we live. We don't have one world. We have two worlds, not only economically but ideologically and spiritually." The clash of ideologies was spoken of—

"Now it is Communism and atheism against Christianity. We do not confront any new problem... it is the same problem... how to turn the will to dominate into the will to serve." The clergyman considered how the liberties gained must be protected. "Our enemy is not the atomic bomb. Our enemy is war itself—prevention of war should be of first importance. The important task with which we are faced is abolition of war. Unless we believe in an idealistic policy there is little that can save us... Realism has not produced peace. The ideology of Christ can." The need for holiness, and for the peace of God was bespoken by the clergyman who mentioned that "Slowly the light of religious freedom is being snuffed out. The only reasonable alternative is the belief that 'God is'."

Warning of the dangers of nationalism, the Rev. Mr. Laedlein spoke of the need for a deep faith in God. "It remains our solemn duty to labor unceasingly for peace of the world, and the preservation of our liberties."

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Edward Steiss, pastor of Neshaminy Methodist Church, Hulmeville. Children participating in Hulmeville parade were served refreshments at the Wm. Penn Fire Co. station by Hulmeville-Middletown Parent-Teacher Ass'n.
